Crackthe family's all gone now, but there's still something here to love. Menu Avenging Angel I'm sure most of you are already sick to death of my chatter lately, so I better make this quick. But before I rant, I want to make something clear. I don't have anything against America. I don't have anything against the military. I'm a pacifist, it's what I believe in, but I don't believe it's what the military does. Now that I've made that clear, let me rant. I have had it with this "War on Terrorism," since it was used first in a banal way by the Bush administration and then was inexplicably expanded by Obama. I have had it with this war of all wars, the arms race, the arms manufacturers, the endless fucking supply of oil and the fact that, despite continued lies, we didn't go into Iraq or Afghanistan to actually stop the terrorism. What I can't stand is the way we torture innocent people we catch, the lies, the bullshit, the random killing and the continued collateral damage. And nothing has changed. I mean, other than the fact that

I'm no longer in Iraq or Afghanistan. Let's be honest. Let's not call Iraq the new Libya, because it's not. Libya had an actual dictator. This is a fucking democracy in the Middle East. And the thing is, democracy isn't just the Democratic Party. And I'm not being glib. I'm not saying that Democrats are on the side of angels, but what we're seeing now is a country where a call for democracy in Iran or Iraq or Syria isn't seen as threatening to the US military industrial complex. Democracy is a threat, an unfair threat, because we're in the middle of a goddamn war. I'm not giving you a lesson in history or telling you how to vote or you damn don't care, and I'm not angry at you for not voting, but maybe you should. Maybe you should vote for the Libertarian ticket this year or maybe you should just take a break from the electoral process and declare f678ea9f9e
